Tutoring Experience

I have spent the last four years working closely with students to build their understanding of chemistry across a variety of curriculums, including A-Level, IB, and IGCSE. My focus has been on guiding students through key topics such as organic synthesis, thermodynamics, and analytical techniques, ensuring they excel in both coursework and examinations.

My experience includes supporting students in achieving high grades on exams like AQA, OCR, and IB Chemistry, as well as providing targeted preparation for university applications. I've worked with students from diverse backgrounds, tailoring sessions to their specific needs, and helping them develop the skills required for success in higher education.
